The book and I owe a debt of gratitude to precious colleagues and friends. The text would not have materialised without the generous support, professional advice and kindness of Prof. Dr. Edgar Wolfrum, Dr. Frank Reuter and Daniela Gress who designed the project and stood by me through thick and thin during its implementation; of Valentina Christova, Paris, and Sandra Rudman, University of Konstanz, who helped me grapple with material in French and Dutch; of Anna Traykova, Kennesaw State University, who procured hard-to-find publications; of Prof. Dr. Peter Bell, University of Erlangen-Nürnberg, who offered valuable suggestions to the chapter on Dutch history painting; of Eva Orbanz, Deutsche Kinemathek/FIAF, Hans-Michael Bock and the CineGraph team in Hamburg who enhanced the chapter on early film with their exceedingly helpful feedback; of Prof. Dr. Korneliya Slavova, University of Sofia, who stepped in at short notice as a language editor and meticulously worked through the entire manuscript, and of Herbert Heuss who had the patience to read over and over again the numerous drafts of the text and come up with comments. Thank you all!

As to the illustrations, I am thankful to the following persons and institutions for allowing me to use the visual material, and also for providing the high-resolution image files. I owe special thanks to Dr. David de Witt, Senior Curator at Museum Het Rembrandthuis in Amsterdam, who scoured through his personal archive to find an ektachrome with an excellent colour rendition of Jan van Noordt's painting Pretioze and Don Jan (1660).
