Nr. 492 Verso (Ausschnitt)

A long, narrow, and heavily damaged fragment of a papyrus scroll. The surface is dark and textured, with numerous irregular white holes and tears, particularly along the right edge. Faint, handwritten text in an ancient script is visible, written in dark ink. The text is arranged in several lines, though many characters are obscured by the damage. The fragment appears to be a section of a larger document.

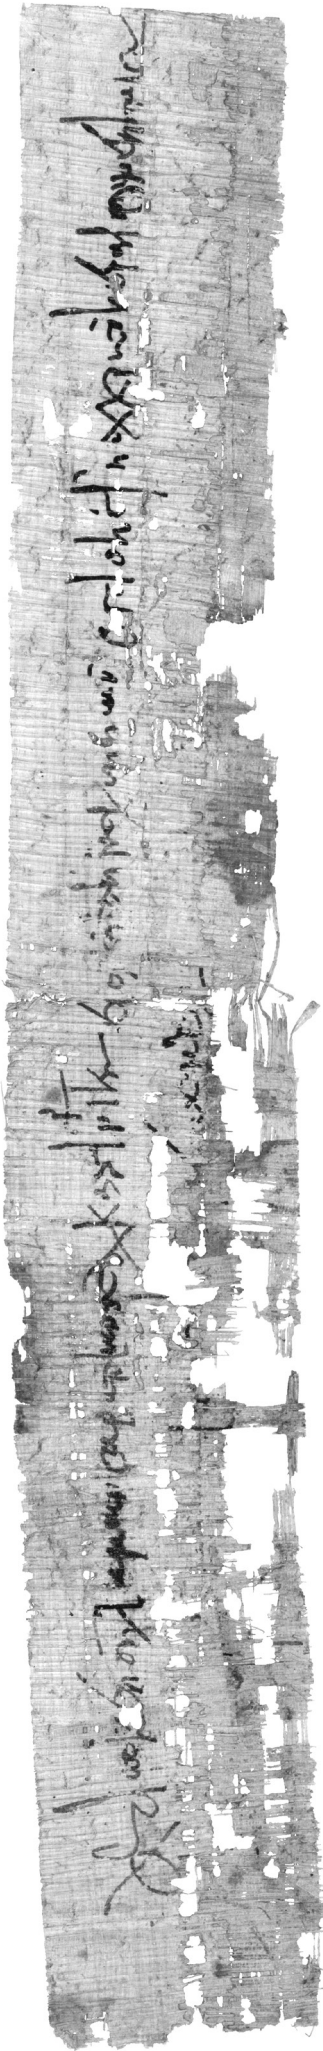

Fragment of a papyrus scroll, showing several lines of handwritten text in an ancient script (likely Demotic or Hieratic). The text is heavily damaged and partially obscured by numerous holes and tears in the material.

Nr. 493 Recto

The reverse side of the papyrus fragment. It shows the same dark, textured surface with significant damage and white holes. The handwriting is very faint and difficult to decipher, appearing as dark, irregular marks against the lighter background of the papyrus fibers. The fragment is oriented vertically, matching the recto side.
