

Contents

Martin Bauer, Philip Booth, and Susanna Fischer Introduction	1
------------------------------------------------------------------------	---

PART I: TEXTS, MAPS, AND MANUSCRIPTS

Jonathan Rubin Authorial and Scribal Interventions in Medieval Accounts of the Holy Land	15
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

Burchard of Mount Zion's 'Descriptio Terre Sancte' as a Test Case

Eva Ferro and Michael Schonhardt The Manuscript Circulation of Burchard's 'Descriptio Terre Sancte' and Its Contexts	35
--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

Susanna Fischer The Transmission of a 'Declaracio mappe Terre Sancte' from the 15th Century	67
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

Towards a Digital Edition of a Textual Description of a Grid Map

PART II: AUTHORS, AUDIENCES, AND CONCEPTS

Jana Valtrová Struggling with Fear?	93
-----------------------------------------------	----

Emotions in Medieval Travel Accounts about the Mongols

Stefan Schröder The 'Muslim Other' in (Late) Medieval Latin Pilgrimage Reports	117
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

Origins, Differences, and Functions

Philip Booth Beyond Turner	161
--------------------------------------	-----

Anthropological Approaches and Medieval Pilgrimage Texts

Martin Bauer Imagined Travels and Neoplatonic Pilgrimage in Petrarch's 'Itinerarium ad sepulcrum Domini nostri Yehsu Cristi'	189
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

Yamit Rachman-Schrire Reading Allegory into the Landscape of the Holy Land Sermons Integrated into Felix Fabri's 'Evagatorium in Terrae Sanctae, Arabiae et Egypti peregrinationem'	209
Kathryne Beebe Jacob Klingner, Felix Fabri, and the Interpretation of Imagined Pilgrimage	223
Index of Places	245
Index of Persons	249