Table of Contents

Jan Scholz, Max Stille, Ines Weinrich
Introduction ................................................................. 1

Part I: Trajectories of Religious and Aesthetic Interpretations ................................................. 29

Lore Knapp
Religious Experience as Aesthetic Experience ........................................ 31

Annette Wilke
Classical Indian Aesthetics and rasa Theory: Observations on Embodied Rhetoric, Reader Response, and the Entanglement of Aesthetics and Religion in Hindu India ......................................................... 47

Omaima Abou-Bakr
“Bride of the Qurʾān”: An Aesthetic Reading of Sūrat ar-Raḥmān .............. 91

Part II: Aesthetics of Islamic Sermons .............................................. 107

Tahera Qutbuddin
A Sermon on Piety by Imam ʿAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib: How the Rhythm of the Classical Arabic Oration Tacitly Persuaded .............................................. 109

Max Stille
Between the Numinous and the Melodramatic: Poetics of Heightened Feelings in Bengali Islamic Sermons ..................... 125

Jan Scholz
Dramatic Islamic Preaching: A Close Reading of ʿAmr Khālid ................. 149
Part III: Experiencing Religion in and through Literature... 171

Tony K. Stewart
Popular Sufi Narratives and the Parameters of the Bengali Imaginaire ................................................................. 173

Susanne Enderwitz
Religion into Literature: A Close Reading of 'Abd al-Ḥakīm Qāsim's Novel Ayyām al-insān as-sab‘a (The Seven Days of Man) ........................................ 197

Suzanne Pinckney Stetkevych
Rhetoric, Hybridity, and Performance in Medieval Arabic-Islamic Devotional Poetry: Al-Kāfiya al-Badī‘iyya of Ṣafī ad-Dīn al-Ḥillī ............... 207

Ines Weinrich
Strategies in Islamic Religious Oral Performance: The Creation of Audience Response ................................................. 233